Terms and Conditions

Objective:

- For the planting of a mixture of different crops grown together; in order to prevent erosion, use excess moisture and improve soil health.
- The planting of a diverse mixture of annual plant species together, instead of the standard practice of single crop monoculture, can benefit both the farmer and the environment.

Eligibility and Conditions:

- Lands must be within the Inter-Mountain Watershed District.
- Only one application per farming operation and field must be sown in year of application.
- The Cover Crop / Polycrop Program / Rotational Grazing is a rebate program. The approved landowners will be responsible to order, pick up and pay for their own seed.

Assistance:

- Rebates are made through PWCP when funds are available for delivery of these programs.

General Information:

- If approved, the landowner must provide a copy of the paid receipt to the IMWD in order to receive assistance.
- Sow seed on the land specified in the application in the year of approval, or report the circumstances to the Inter-Mountain Watershed District office.
- In cases of ownership or rental change, the new owner/renter shall comply with the terms of this application.
- IMWD will determine eligibility of applications in consultation with sub-district, Board and staff.
- IMWD will adjust the reimbursement to approved landowner if the landowner does not purchase the recommended rate of seed to establish the amount of acres applied for.
- All projects are to be approved by IMWD prior to seeding and are subject to available funding and reserves the right to decline any application.
- IMWD reserves the right for reasonable access to the project site for inspection and to promote the program.
- Indemnify and save harmless the Inter-Mountain Watershed District, their agents, engineers, servants and /or employees from any liability that may result from this project.
